retirement cash to fund long-term care. The country's private health insurance market is expanding at an alarming rate, thanks to services such as medical tests or treatment costing close to the amount of government funding for elderly Australians' needs. "Australia currently has the world's strongest health system, which is reflected in its experience of private health insurance," said Rod Sullivan, head of strategy and marketing for the Insurance Council of Australia. "Private health insurance was pioneered in Australia in the 1980s," he said. "For the first time in the developed world, policyholders on average are having more private health insurance than public health insurance. The health care sector is growing fast. "In the last decade, the number of health insurers has more than trebled, while the number of health insurance policies in Australia has risen by 15 per cent," he added. When you're at the doctor's office and your doctor tells you to cut down on carbs, you're probably thinking: "Carbs are the most delicious thing I've ever had." You think of carbs as the source of energy for your muscles, which is true. But did you know that carbs can help you lose weight? Carbohydrates can easily be found in the foods you eat. Carbs are found in fruits, vegetables and starchy foods, such as bread, pasta and even baked goods, and they are also found in the starchy 6d1f23a050
